Pipe Welding Proficiency: None

Tell Us About Any Relevant Jobs :

I was a Lawn Technician Helper for NaturaLawn of America and I didn't do anything pipe related. However, I did learn the value of hard work and working in weathering conditions.

I was a Meat Associate for Sendik's where I learned the value of communicating with co-workers for a collaborative goal. I have learned the value of working 16 hours in a day before, during the holidays. This is where I learned how to help my other coworkers in getting work done, and lend a helping hand.

When I was a Student Security Officer. I learned how to check for different campus

Why are you exploring an apprenticeship program?

I want to be able to make a living for myself. I am a dedicated person to my craft and I want to learn. I have always been teachable, trainable, and open-minded when it comes to anything. I love learning things that are interesting to me. Most importantly, I want to apply what I've learned in the field.

Tell Us About Any Relevant Hobbies:

My Dad is always wrenching on something in the garage and, whenever I could, I was right by his side. I don't have any hobbies that relate to the trades. However, I love working with my hands and doing the dirty work. I feel that I am the best worker when I am working with my hands. I have also loved the gratification of putting something together and being able to call it my work. Even if it is something as small as doing the oil change on my car, or helping my friend build an office space in his basement.

What Interested You in Plumbing?

My Dad was an auto mechanic for 25 years, possibly more. My Dad is the most hard-working man that I know and has inspired me in many different ways. So, that led to me always helping him out in the garage and I always loved taking things apart, learning how they work, and being able to put it all back together and have it work again.

I would have taken my interests into the Auto Mechanic industry but they don't have benefits like the rest of the trades. Mechanics are not afforded the benefits that this industry may have and I want to be able to retire, raise a family, and be a provider for my family. In plumbing, I know that every day can be different. There are many different types of jobs that you can work. I like the idea of plumbing because of the variability in

Tell Us About Any Relevant Jobs :

I have many previous experiences in the construction field of trades but the only job was when I worked for CHUEMAN AND SONS LLC. CHUEMAN AND SONS LLC is owned by my father in law in which he buys and repairs houses. Chueman owns about 10-15 houses in which I have assisted him in repairing most, if not, all.

Assisting Chueman with repairing houses ranged from many different things. I have done drywall, painting, roofing, installing doors and windows, cutting pipes for plumbing, and tiles. I truly believe the hands-on skills I have learned from Chueman can be applicable to the nine trades.

Why are you exploring an apprenticeship program?

An apprenticeship is an attractive option for me for many reasons. First off, I love hands-on tasks and am a visual learner. Apprenticeships provide real-world practical experience. Another great benefit is that I will be earning income while learning.

Tell Us About Any Relevant Hobbies:

I am an aquarium hobbyist and love fish keeping. I've kept fish for over a decade. I can understand how critical it is to keep water safe and clean. I've done some plumbing to accommodate for proper filtration in my fish tanks. I'm sure there are some transferrable skills there.

I first took a liking in the trades when I took a carpentry course in High school. I have many previous construction experiences. My wife's family owns many houses in the Milwaukee area and from time to time, I assist them in fixing and renovating them. I have learned that I am good with hands-on tasks and that I love working with my hands more than customer service.

What Interested You in Plumbing?

I have always had a interest in trades. I have previous construction experiences growing up that I loved doing. I went to college and pursued a degree but I did not like what I was doing. I was mostly doing customer service but found myself leaving after a period of time. I am looking for more hands-on work in which I am good at.

I want to pursue plumbing specifically because of job security and the abundant income opportunities it has to offer. I also have a passion for helping others and/or society. Plumbers contribute to society by maintaining the plumbing infrastructures ensuring safe water for the population.

A big one for me has been my background in soccer. I played soccer growing up, in high school, and college, and this has been very transferable to the trades as far as athleticism, working hard, being a part of a team, learning from others, and being a part of a structure with a common goal. I think I understand well how to be a good team member and follow instructions well, while offering my own unique skills and insight into what I am doing to help the whole team grow and benefit. I love running as well and this has helped me to develop myself mentally as well as physically; to think positively through tough times and reach your goals. I think that is important in the trades to stay positive and enjoy/be thankful for life and the position you are in, even when the work is tough and demanding. It has also helped me to stay strong, nimble, flexible, be able to do

What Interested You in Plumbing?

Plumbing is a trade that has always interested me. I love how practical it is and see it as a way to help serve my community. I also love working with my hands and love the details of plumbing. I have been working in the trades in carpentry for about 5 years and am looking for a change in something stable and that will help me keep learning and growing as I get older, and also something that will help me provide for my family.

Tell Us About Any Relevant Jobs :

I worked in Printmaking shops for 7ish years on and off as a lab technician /assistant.
That experience alone taught me many small tricks and basic facts about the pipe trades.

On top of this I've been working in food, as a barista, and now bartender for the past 10 years.

I've picked up a lot of overlapping info on how drains and piping works from regular maintenance to large scale plumbing fixes.

Why are you exploring an apprenticeship program?

I learn more efficiently if I'm doing something while also being shown/reading it from a text.

I'm currently a part time bartender and need some sort of income as I look to switch career paths.

An apprenticeship option is attractive to me because I already have a family with kids but I'm eager to learn and do so much more than my current state. One of my biggest hobbies happen to be coaching. I'm on my second almost third year coaching football for my son's team and honestly I enjoy training our young boys. Often up North we're told to "keep it simple" with these boys when there's kids the same age (7 & 8) doing ten times more advanced work than our boys down South. Our boys are capable and willing just have to be patient repetitive believe in them and be very explanatory & thorough as can be. Break down the WHY's and the HOW's and WHAT to do in case of can be time consuming as ever sometimes but seeing these boys take those skills and techniques and put them to action on the field is a very irreplaceably priceless feeling. I love watching them put it all out on the field after a long strenuous week or practice. The hours after a game I spend looking through film seeking areas of

Since I graduated high school I've taken a stab at a few different career paths; fire fighting & EMS, security, personal training and more yet none of them really gave me what I needed to maintain interest. Two years ago I found myself fully engaged in a course provided by SDC through a program called the Absolute Advantage. In this program I gained experience and training in lead & asbestos, some carpentry work, some plumbing and a tad bit of electric blueprinting. Graduated from the program top of my class for the first time in my life and it wasn't that I was shooting for that position I just gained mad interest in learning about something. I didn't necessarily have to get paid it for in order for me to enjoy it either but the training and education was enough to keep me locked in. Add'l Edu. Details:

I have a Bachelor of Business Administration from UW-Whitewater. I majored in Marketing.

Years of Full-Time Work Experience:

10+

Relevant Experience Level:

Some. I have worked for a plumber, steamfitter or HVAC/R contractor.

Pipe Welding Proficiency:

None

Tell Us About Any Relevant Jobs :

I have been working as a laborer for a plumbing company, powerhouse plumbing, for the past year.

Tell Us About Any Relevant Hobbies:

My primary hobbies include golfing and playing the guitar and drums, however I am very mechanically inclined. I am frequently doing maintenance on my car, helping friends renovate houses, as well as installing windows/painting houses as side jobs.

I am also a self-taught software programmer hobbyist. Over the past decade, this hobby has helped me develop problem solving and troubleshooting skills that have helped me in most areas in life where diagnosing and solving a problem is required.

What Interested You in Plumbing?

After graduating with a degree in 2013 and working for 8 years in the business world, I realized that I was meant to work with my hands. After considering the trades for some time, I have come to a point where I am looking to make a permanent transition into the trades.

Why are you exploring an apprenticeship program?

Because it is the first step in pursuing a permanent career in the trades. Being that I have had exposure to plumbing work over the past year and know that I would enjoy and excel in it, it makes it even more attractive.

For the past year, I have been working for a friend who owns his own Plumbing business, Powerhouse Plumbing, as a laborer. During this time, I have learned what the job requires and have grown an appreciation for the trade. I am now looking to pursue a career in it.

Tell Us About Any Relevant Jobs :

I worked under a plumber on and off for several years doing general construction work. I also spent a summer working as a carpenter.

Tell Us About Any Relevant Hobbies:

In Green Bay I volunteered as a bike mechanic at a local nonprofit, which involves tuning, diagnosing, and repairing a decent number of interwoven mechanical systems. In my spare time I enjoy woodworking, which requires knowledge of a good number of tools and processes. When I had a gas powered car I did my own oil changes and maintenance, including replacing a starter, which required a degree of mechanical aptitude.

What Interested You in Plumbing?

I'm excited to solve mechanical problems on the ground on a day-to-day basis and to see the work I'm doing translate into a real, physical difference in the world.

Why are you exploring an apprenticeship program?

I know a big part of what determines a project's success is whether it starts out on going the right direction. An Apprenticeship seems like the best way to start with the right knowledge and the right direction. It definitely doesn't hurt that it pays, too.

What Interested You in Plumbing?

What interested me in the trades, specifically plumbing, is the classes that I have taken in High School. I have taken many trades classes, including 2 years of both construction and woodworking classes, as well as a semester of a welding course, and a few other courses. In the construction classes, we learned about almost every trade, and when we practiced some plumbing techniques and duties, I took a very strong interest in it. In addition to the high school classes that I have taken, I enjoy working both indoors and outdoors no matter the weather, and physical work, which I do at my current job.

During my entire academic career, I have always been a good listener and follow all directions that are given, making sure to ask any questions if I were to have any. Also, I

Trades are physical by nature and demand more from a trade person physically compared to other careers. Hobbies I enjoy that relate to this most are mountain biking, snowboarding, and rock climbing. All of these sports put a strain on the upper and lower body, as well as the cardiovascular system. Rock climbing would relate the most to plumbing in this case due to the duality of problem solving and physical capability required to be successful in the sport.

Tell Us About Any Relevant Jobs :

As a current computer technician my job is all troubleshooting. I quickly snowballed my knowledge and turn around time for technical solutions within a few months of starting 6 years ago. I can operate completely independently when it comes to my day to day operation and offer help to others where I can. I believe while I don't have hands on experience with the pipe trades my knack for problem solving and hunger to learn can and will be put to good use.

What Interested You in Plumbing?

I have a preference for manual labor. I found my interest for plumbing through various media and my father. He is a contractor. While working with him I met all kinds of trades people and got to see what they do. Plumbing just so happened to catch my attention the most. It really is pivotal to a functioning society.

Why are you exploring an apprenticeship program?

An apprenticeship would allow me to earn while learning a skill I have interest in. I'm confident the hands on training and support I'll receive will develop me into an effective tradesman.

What Interested You in Plumbing?

As the population increases, as does the need for our buildings both residential and commercial to grow and be maintained. The plumbing trade is one that not only provides structure and a promising future but also offers diverse paths that will allow me to grow and learn as a future journeyman. It will allow me the ability to build strong networks with other trades and be an example for my current generation and future generations on the importance of the trades, specifically plumbing.

Why are you exploring an apprenticeship program?

An apprenticeship offers me structured and supportive on the job training and skills that go far beyond anything that can be offered by a traditional employer. I will be able to grow and learn and build relationships with those in the field that can help me meet my personal and professional goals.

Tell Us About Any Relevant Jobs :

I worked for Kohler Co. as a Sales Analyst, and I took a course in which we covered the fundamentals of plumbing. Additionally, when I was in college I held a job doing light maintenance at a senior housing complex with Sloan valve toilets. In this capacity, I often observed and assisted with toilet repairs. I have some further experience performing minor household toilet and sink repairs.

Tell Us About Any Relevant Hobbies:

I have been trained as an arborist and have thus operated powerful and potentially dangerous tools and machines. This has made me to respect the power of these devices and to prioritize peoples' safety at the job site over everything else. The nature of this work has also given me a keen sense of awareness of what is going on at the job site at all times and anything that may be developing. I have abundant experience in high stress situations (ex: traffic, storms) with many factors at play. I have learned to develop a great deal of patience to complete jobs correctly with minimal risk rather than in the shortest possible time.

What Interested You in Plumbing?

I enjoy working with my hands and problem solving. I developed an interest in plumbing while working with Kohler Co. a number of years ago and also know what a critical role plumbing plays within our society. Additionally, I have had the pleasure of assisting on plumbing repairs/projects while employed in maintenance positions during my earlier years of employment.

Why are you exploring an apprenticeship program?

I like the idea of learning while I work, and the fact that I would have the opportunity to do the job from the very start. I have spent considerable time in the classroom and am not looking for a situation where I study for years only waiting to get my chance in the field. I think experiential learning is the greatest form of learning, and the apprenticeship

I did car detailing for a while which I was good at because I am detail oriented. It would help me in the pipe trades because it is important to be meticulous and tidy. You had to take pride in your work to make cars as pristine as possible which is important in any job. I liked being able to make people happy with a clean car as well. I also worked at Amazon for a while.

It was really hard work but I worked there for a while. I have a great work ethic and drive, which would help benefit me in plumbing. I also had a plumbing job for a short time which I loved. I enjoyed the work and learning how it things functioned. I learned

Why are you exploring an apprenticeship program?

School was never for me I don't like sitting still and have always enjoyed hands on work. I did enjoy math and engineering focused classes but that was it. I think an apprenticeship would be perfect for me. I would be able to learn and do hands on work. Doing that I believe I would be able to learn and excel much quicker.

Tell Us About Any Relevant Hobbies:

I enjoy things that are hands on and require problem solving. For example, I like being able to work on my motorcycle and fix it myself. I also enjoy working on my car. This allows me to figure how something works in order to fix it. I think this would really benefit me in plumbing.

I also do car detailing and I'm very detailed oriented. It helps me stay organized and I can be very meticulous. I like to keep my car clean and help other people as well. The end results of cleaning a car are always very rewarding. It would help me in the trades greatly in order to keep my work clean and to keep a high standard for myself.

What Interested You in Plumbing?

I have always been better at hands on work and have always been interested in trade work. I like learning how things work and function. I also enjoy problem solving to quickly find solutions. School was never really for me, I like to keep busy and moving. I think the trades would suit me perfectly and that is why I want to pursue it.

Plumbing has always been the trade that caught my attention the most. I want to learn about different kinds of plumbing and how it works. I worked for a plumbing company for a short time and enjoyed every second of it. I liked being able to help supply people with their water. I also liked learning how to do it and the satisfaction of completing a job.

My partner is in the Stonemason's Union, and over the course of the last four years I have watched him start his apprenticeship and come home every day proud of his work and excited about how he is learning so much. I can't help but want something like that, where I am gaining not only mental, but physical strength while also learning and disciplining myself to an extent that I haven't experienced before.

Why are you exploring an apprenticeship program?

I would like to join a career that not only furthers my mind, but my body, and I would like to learn a relevant and valuable skill from people who are masters of their craft. I have watched my partner join the stonemasons union and two of our close friends started their apprenticeships in roofing and painting, respectively. After seeing them excel in their

I walked out of my job today, because I found out the owner of the company I worked for was infringing on my rights as an employee and skimming off of the top of my checks and refusing to pay me for work that I had done. The only jobs I've worked have really just been factory and assembly-line type jobs. The only real applicable skills would be general skills like following precise instructions, being on my feet a whole day, and keeping an eye out for quality.

Tell Us About Any Relevant Hobbies:

I've done some woodworking and carpentry, so I'm familiar with many common power and hand tools. Also, I've recently helped make a garage from the ground up, helping with the framing, roofing, siding, and so on -- but this was a small project, and didn't involve any plumbing in specific. Other than that, most of my experience is just in general maintenance and repair of general household things, not new construction.

What Interested You in Plumbing?

To keep it short, it's honest and steady work, pays well, it's a universally desired profession no matter where you are, and is very closely associated with labor unions. Plumbing specifically has been recommended to me by most people I've talked to.

Why are you exploring an apprenticeship program?

It's a good way to make a honest living and learn real-world skills, and apprenticeships tend to have union options. There's also plenty of ways to advance your career with apprenticeships and from there on.

Tell Us About Any Relevant Jobs :

I do not really have any jobs or hobbies that relate to the trades. Occasionally I work with my step dad to fix some small plumbing, but not very often. If I had the opportunity to get more into a hobby of plumbing I would definitely do so much more. There is just not many opportunities for people my age because we're under 18. In school I take some classes and teacher aid in some of our trades classes. However there really was nothing for plumbing, and many kids in my high school don't even know plumbing is a skilled trade option. I am in Girl Scouts and I have always been taught to help others out and open doors for them. Because of there not being much plumbing knowledge in my high school one of the tech ed teachers and I started to build bays for students to explore plumbing.

Why are you exploring an apprenticeship program?

I am exploring the apprenticeships because I did not want to go directly into college. I really like to work with my hands and I think this would be a great opportunity for me to learn more about something I am passionate about. Eventually I have plans to own a plumbing business. In order to do that I need to learn more about plumbing and make

What Interested You in Plumbing?

I have always know that I did not want to go to a four year college. Instead I was interested in doing something that was hands on. I really like problem solving and water so I was interested in being a plumber. In 7th grade my science teacher told me to do a career project on plumbers. This sparked my interest even more because I learned more in depth what a plumber does day to day. I think the trades are something very unique and that you really have to want to be involved to be a part. It is not something for everyone. Working hands on is not how everyone learns, but it is how I learn. The trades gives me the chance to learn hands on and work doing something I like and appreciate.

Pipe Welding Proficiency:

None

Tell Us About Any Relevant Hobbies:

I like to work on my dirt bike in my free time. I have bought old dirt bikes and fixed them up. I like to do things outdoors like boating, fishing, and playing sports. I am very social and enjoy hanging out with friends. I am easy to talk to and make friends easily. I work well in a team setting.

Tell Us About Any Relevant Jobs :

I started my own handyman and landscape business. I did many different tasks for homeowners including installing a toilet and doors, to demo work, and many other tasks. I work well with the homeowners and manage their needs in a professional way. I worked as a youth carpentry apprenticeship with Wade Designs, which allowed me to network with contractors and figure out that I want to become a plumber.

What Interested You in Plumbing?

I have always enjoyed working with my hands. I realized I enjoy construction work when I helped my dad with our family's large remodel of our house. I am very good at understanding how things work. I was told during my youth apprenticeship job that I have natural instincts with construction. I started my own handyman and landscaping business while I was in high school. My career goals include working on home remodeling and real estate investment.

Why are you exploring an apprenticeship program?

There are several reasons I want to start an apprenticeship. First, I am a hands-on learner. I learn best by seeing and doing. Unlike traditional classroom settings, an apprenticeship provides opportunities to learn real-life challenges and responsibilities. I have always done well with that kind of learning.

I worked for a design-to-build company as a carpentry apprentice during high school and was exposed to many different building trades. I gained a lot of respect for the plumbing trade and see a lot of potential with this skill for my long term goals.

I've had a few warehouse jobs where we did a little bit of pipe fitting nothing to serious. The jobs I've had didn't have a lot of experience when it comes to plumbing. But on my free time I love to research things regarding plumbing and welding. I did a welding class in high school where we welded pipes and little pieces of scrap metal. But as far as that the only jobs I had regarding plumbing came from working around the house and helping other people such as my uncle. But again my warehouse experience and helping my uncle are the closest things I've have had regarding experience with this trade.

Why are you exploring an apprenticeship program?

The reason I find interest in an apprenticeship is because it gives me a change to learn on the job, and not just the classroom. I'm more of a hands on learner, I like to see the task done in front of me, and then me attempting the task myself with the help of an instructor. With an apprenticeship it will give me an opportunity to grow and to become

Tell Us About Any Relevant Hobbies:

Some hobbies I like to do is help my uncle around his house, and dad around the house. Whether that would be to install a new toilet to laying down flooring. They also like to work outside, or in the garage. That could be making something in the garage, working on the roof, or even working on cars. I also like to play sports such as basketball, and soccer when I have the time to do so. Anything that involves hands on work I love to do, I love the feeling of completing something when I start it. I find that work very satisfying, and especially if I learned something new that day is an even better feeling.

The reason I feel like my hobbies would do well in this trade is because they all come with some type of challenge. I love the fact that I could do something I found difficult and

What Interested You in Plumbing?

What interested me about this trade is the fact that I'm helping somebody in some way. I like the idea of solving an issue for somebody and coming up with a solution. Not only that, but I feel as though this career path could lead me to success in the future, and I could use the skills I would learn in this trade anywhere I go. What I like about this trade is that it gives me an opportunity to grow and become better not only in pipe trades, but a better individual as well. I feel as though this would challenge me when it comes to problem solving, and finding solutions to issues that I never knew I could find.

I also feel as though I'm good with working with my hands. I find that working with materials that could satisfy and help customers to be very satisfying and beneficial work.

My first job was a chicken shop at Daves Hot chicken. i applied as a dishwasher getting paid 12 and hour. i was my first job so i didnt know anyone and i was a little nervous. But thats where i learned my communication skills and how to communicate and use my voice. Also i learned to work with other and deal with under pressure obstacles.

My second job which is my current job is a restaurant called Portillo's. i work there as a dishwasher 40 hrs a week. And when i started i wasn't as nervous and communicated with people more than i did at my old job. Starting there was easy because i had experience so i was easv starting there then mv old iob.

Why are you exploring an apprenticeship program?

I want to be in an apprenticeship mainly so i can move up in the rankings. Soon be a journeyman and hopefully one day a master plumber. I like apprenticeship because they teach you a lot and they also pay you to learn. And also i like them because you do hands on work.

Tell Us About Any Relevant Hobbies:

I dont really have many hobbies but i do have some that can help in the trades. For example i like to do math, ive been really good at math since i was younger and i still challenge myself to this day. one of my many skilled, is that i know how to communicate with people and working in the trades, i know there is a lot of communication.

What Interested You in Plumbing?

What really inspired me to be a plumber, well i wanted to do welding originally, but plumbing was my second option. I ended choosing plumbing, i saw the money on how much each get paid and saw the plumbers make way more. i knew since i was in middle school that i wanted to be in the trades.

I always liked doing hands on work, i dont just like sitting around. i like to be physically doing stuff. And trade jobs are one of the most hands on jobs out there. I started ti look into trades leaving middle school, hoping to start an apprenticeship in high school.

What Interested You in Plumbing?

My plan after High School was to get into the trades. I know there is good money to be made and benefits from it and overall can be a great career path. The reasoning for me choosing plumbing is because this field of work provides a dynamic work environment where every day presents new challenges and opportunities for problem-solving, creativity, and skill development. Also, the demand for skilled tradespeople is strong, and ensures job stability and for continuous growth and advancement.

Why are you exploring an apprenticeship program?

I believe it is a better option then college because I can earn a income we'll in school.

What Interested You in Plumbing?

A career in the building trades can be appealing for several reasons. I believe that I'm drawn to it because it offers hands-on work, tangible results, and a clear path for career progression. It's a field where skills can be developed and refined over time, and there's often a strong sense of accomplishment in seeing a finished project or solving complex problems.

Why are you exploring an apprenticeship program?

An apprenticeship is an attractive option because it offers a practical, hands-on learning experience while you earn a salary. This blend of earning and learning allows you to gain valuable on-the-job training and experience under the guidance of experienced professionals, which can be more effective than classroom instruction alone. Additionally, plumbing is an essential trade with a unique set of challenges. It involves working with intricate systems to ensure water and waste management is efficient and effective. The technical skills required for plumbing, such as understanding complex blueprints, diagnosing issues, and working with various materials and tools, can be very rewarding.
