Tell Us About Any Relevant Jobs :

This is the first I will be learning about how to be a plumber and I am very much excited. This is a new journey for me.

Tell Us About Any Relevant Hobbies:

I don't have much experience yet, but I enjoy learning how things work. I like watching videos about building, fixing, and using tools. It interests me to see how people solve problems and build things from the ground up. I feel like this curiosity will help me learn quickly once I get started in the trades. In my free time, I like staying active and being around people. I enjoy doing things that require focus and patience, like puzzles or games that take planning. These activities help me stay sharp and think things through, which I believe are good skills to have when working in construction.

What Interested You in Plumbing?

I'm interested in plumbing because I like working with my hands and figuring things out. I've always been the kind of person who likes to fix stuff, whether it's around the house or helping friends and family. Plumbing seems like a job where I can use those skills every day and actually help people. I think it would feel good to know I'm doing something useful that others really need. Another reason I want to get into plumbing is because it's a steady job with good opportunities. I want a career where I can learn, grow, and maybe one day work for myself. I like the idea of starting as an apprentice and building up from there. It feels like something I could be proud of, and I'm ready to put in the work to learn the trade and do it well.

Why are you exploring an apprenticeship program?

An apprenticeship is a great option for me because I learn best by doing. I like the idea of getting real hands-on experience while learning from someone who knows the trade. It's also a good way to earn money while I'm building my skills, instead of just sitting in a classroom all day. I want to start working, learn something useful, and grow into a steady

What Interested You in Plumbing?

I want to start a career in plumbing because it offers stable, reliable employment in a field that will always be in demand. I enjoy hands-on, practical work and like the idea of solving problems that help people in their daily lives. Plumbing provides the opportunity to learn valuable, transferable skills while earning a good income. I also appreciate that it offers clear pathways for advancement and the potential to run my own business in the future. Additionally, I value the variety of working in different environments rather than sitting at a desk all day, which I currently do.

Why are you exploring an apprenticeship program?

I don't like sitting at a desk all day anymore and want a rewarding career doing something challenging and hands-on. I am also interested in owning my own business one day and I think this career field would be a great opportunity to do so.

It taught me how to be on time for things it definitely gave me a lot of responsibility. I learned how to be a better leader too.

What Interested You in Plumbing?

I'd always wanted my career to be a service to provide for people. I've always had interest in plumbing even at a young age, I remember being fascinated by the pipe systems inside of discovery world. Another thing that stood out to me was the longevity of the career because people will always need a plumber.

Why are you exploring an apprenticeship program?

Because it's in a classroom and on the job learning. I've been a visual learner so the hands on part is how I learn best.

What Interested You in Plumbing?

I've always loved working with my hands and when it came to college or work I got straight into the work force. I started building fences, landscaping, running machines, dirt work, etc. in Arkansas when I was 18. I worked my tail off and so when I had turned 19 I became a crew lead for my company. Since then I have made my way to Oklahoma doing Residential New Construction Planning and I love it. I pays good, it keeps you in shape, I constantly tests you mentally, and I'm up for the challenge! Tell Us About Any Relevant Hobbies:

Right now, I've been spending a lot of time with my dad, helping him out with various jobs and projects. He knows plumbing, carpentry, electrical, you name it. The guy's basically a genius, so there's a lot of good knowledge to soak up there.

I also watch a lot of YouTube videos about cars, since I don't have the environment, money, or tools to build a project car for the track just yet. My dream is to work as a plumber during the day and have a sick car in the garage for the weekends.

What Interested You in Plumbing?

Well, I'm going to be honest: white-collar work just isn't for me. I'm autistic and have ADHD—I like working with my hands, solving problems, and I need that constant stimulation. You don't get that from typing on a keyboard and staring at a screen for eight hours a day. So, I looked into all the trades, talked to people in those fields, and plumbing just lit that spark in me compared to other trades.

Why are you exploring an apprenticeship program?

I get to learn plumbing and work with my hands everyday and get paid while i do it? and ill be making enough money to spend on my hobby of cars? its literally a no brainer for me.

Tell Us About Any Relevant Jobs :

Bartending has come with some plumbing troubleshooting every once in a while. Home renovation and restoration has given me a handful of plumbing projects to work through.

What Interested You in Plumbing?

I have been interested in working in a unionized field for a few years. My wife and I have spent a lot of time renovating an old fixer upper home for the last few years and it has been extremely rewarding. As I've tackled a handful of plumbing repairs and projects, I've enjoyed the learning process. It's something I can see myself pursuing seriously, as I look toward building a sustainable longer term career.

Why are you exploring an apprenticeship program?

Knowledge from books and online media is one thing, but learning from a seasoned professional with real life experience is most valuable. I really appreciate gaining insight from people who have put in the time in whatever field they're in. I think the passing of knowledge from person to person, generation to generation is maybe the most important

A few of my hobbies include snowboarding and wakeboarding and I would say they boost skills transferrable to construction trades because they use technical planning to achieve a goal safely and efficiently both also need to use great communication and team work to achieve any set goals

What Interested You in Plumbing?

What interests me in the building trades is the opportunity of new challenges daily and to work with my hands. The plumbing trade stuck out to me the most because of the combination of technical skill problem solving and physical hands on work. Also with plumbing being a high demand trade gives me plenty of room for growth and improvement and eventually having an opportunity to own my own business.

Why are you exploring an apprenticeship program?

The reason a apprenticeship attracts me is because of the opportunity to be able to learn the trade and work at the same time the earn while learning is a big reason also the opportunity to learn and work with someone who has been in the trade for a while makes it an amazing opportunity to learn almost everything there is to know about the trade

I've been around the drywall works, where you learn to measure and cut which can be applicable to the pipe trades to fit them correctly and get the job done.

What Interested You in Plumbing?

What really interests me in being in a trade is the way I can develop skills that I'll need in the future. The skills I learn can also be applied to help & assist others. The competitive pay is also a big factor, helping me feel what a start of a successful career feels like. This would also help me develop physically to be able to handle any type of work load that comes my way.

Plumbing specifically catches my attention because every little detail matters and the high demand for it. Plumbing could be beneficial for me whenever I need help in my home or when family/friends need assistance as well. It helps with making sure the water & waste disposal are clean giving people a healthy lifestyle. Plumbing is just a great way to develop problem solving skills and meet new people.

Why are you exploring an apprenticeship program?

It's an attractive option to me because I get to earn while learning the basics and develop a strong understanding of the trade from there & on. It really sticks out to me due to it being a really good head start to a successful career for my future. I can live with a job I enjoy and afford the necessities to a comfortable lifestyle.

What Interested You in Plumbing?

I'm interested in the trades because I enjoy working with hands and have a natural aptitudes towards it. I find satisfaction in seeing a project completed and with the trades I know that feeling will be increased tenfold with large projects undergone by the trades. Being one part of a whole to construct a new building is exciting because you get to see how all the trades work in tandem.

Why are you exploring an apprenticeship program?

I have always been a hands on learner and do best by doing what I need to do than trying to rationalize it in my head.

Most importantly of learning a trade is that you can apply it to help other people. A local church that needs a bathroom repaired or ensuring a town has safe drinking water inspires me to do a good job.

Throughout my work experience, I have developed several skills that relate to the pipe trades. As a pallet builder and general production laborer, I became comfortable using hand and power tools, measuring materials accurately, and working efficiently in a fast-paced environment. My time as a line production worker taught me the importance of precision, teamwork, and following safety protocols crucial aspects of the plumbing trade. Additionally, as a table games dealer, I've strengthened my problem solving, attention to detail, and ability to work under pressure, all of which will help me succeed in a plumbing apprenticeship.

Why are you exploring an apprenticeship program?

Apprenticeship is important to me because it provides a direct path to a stable and rewarding career in a skilled trade. I'm looking for a long-term profession with growth opportunities and hands-on work that I enjoy. Plumbing offers job security, good earning potential, and the chance to build something meaningful every day. An apprenticeship

Tell Us About Any Relevant Hobbies:

One of my hobbies that relates to the construction trades is working on small home improvement projects. I enjoy fixing things around the house, whether it's assembling furniture, patching walls, or helping with minor repairs. I also like learning about different tools and techniques by watching videos and reading about construction and plumbing projects. This hands on interest has reinforced my passion for the trades and my desire to pursue a career in plumbing.

What Interested You in Plumbing?

I am interested in a plumbing apprenticeship because I enjoy hands on work and problem solving. In high school, I took a carpentry course where my teacher also introduced me to plumbing, which I found both challenging and rewarding. Learning the basics showed me how important plumbing is in construction, and I want to develop my skills further in a specialized trade. An apprenticeship will give me the training and experience needed to build a strong career in plumbing.

My experience competing in SkillsUSA reinforced my passion for craftsmanship and working under pressure. It taught me discipline, attention to detail, and skills essential in plumbing. I thrive in environments where I can learn and improve, and an apprenticeship

What Interested You in Plumbing?

My great grandfather became a plumber and started his own plumbing company after WWII. Two of his sons joined him in the plumbing trade. You could say that it is in my blood. I understand the need for skilled tradespeople will always be great and I like having that sense of security. I worked extremely hard my entire academic career and will use the skills I learned in my senior year in the tech ed classes I took to become the best apprentice I can be. I look forward to learning and growing.

Why are you exploring an apprenticeship program?

An apprenticeship is a great opportunity to learn hands on from someone in the actual trade with first hand knowledge and life experience. A college lecture can give you information, but being able to apply that information in real time, as you learn, is a valuable learning option.

Well I haven't taken them yet but I will be taking a program that is mainly focused on the trades. I do work at a place where it does require a lot of patience from the co workers to the customers. But not once have I ever received a complaint that I was acting up or had an attitude towards them. Additionally, my managers from the establishment said from the start that I am a fast learner and the good thing about that is that I follow their rules and instructions. Outside of work I don't really have many hobbies that correlate to construction trades.

What Interested You in Plumbing?

I am interested in a career in the building trades because I like having to work with my hands, I like having to move around and do something to keep me from doing nothing. Working with my hands requires concentration and patience. Concentration can improve the way I think and helps with the brain to process things better. Patience is something that you need in every workplace, you need to be patient with what you're working with. Not being able to keep still is a great thing. I could get the work done faster but this isn't a competition on who gets it done faster, it's about how efficiently you did the work and if it properly works. With plumbing you get to see yourself get the work done. You see an immediate impact on your work and that ,to me, is satisfying. That is one of the reasons why I chose to pursue and gain more knowledge on plumbing. The other trades didn't leak

In my past jobs as a flagger and an ecological restoration technician, I've developed several skills that apply directly to the pipe trades. As a flagger, I learned to stay alert, follow strict safety protocols, and communicate clearly with a team in high-risk environments. In restoration, I have worked outdoors in all weather conditions, used various tools and equipment, and followed detailed instructions to complete tasks. Both roles taught me the importance of being reliable, working hard by myself and as a team, and staying focused.

What Interested You in Plumbing?

I'm interested in pursuing a career in the building trades, particularly plumbing, because I've always been drawn to hands-on work, problem-solving, and understanding how things function. Plumbing plays a vital role in everyday life, and I'm motivated by the opportunity to provide solutions that have a direct, positive impact on people's homes and communities.

Why are you exploring an apprenticeship program?

I also know hand eye coordination and strong focus is required to handle a task at hand and to stay safe on a job site.

What Interested You in Plumbing?

I have always been interested in trades as I know they are a job that will never go away, trades are one area of work that a computer cannot do. As well as I know there is a lot of opportunity in the trades when it comes to growth in the job, and even establishing yourself in an industry and creating something of your own from it. What interests me most about plumbing is that I have always seen plumbers in and out of houses working hard and providing necessary solutions to problems that occur in everyday life as well as being able to make something of themselves and provide for their families which I want to be able to do above all else.

Why are you exploring an apprenticeship program?

I've learned a lot of skills that I believe apply directly to the pipe trades through both personal and work experience. On the personal side, I've helped my family with bathroom remodeling projects where I installed toilets and showers and changed out sink faucets. That gave me a basic understanding of plumbing systems and hands-on practice using tools, measuring, and problem-solving on the spot.

From a work perspective, my time at Harley-Davidson as a production technician and CNC operator taught me how to work with precision tools, follow technical drawings, and pay close attention to detail. It also reinforced the importance of safety, teamwork, and staying consistent in producing high-quality results.

I don't come from a traditionally trade-oriented background. I did for a period of six months, work for Zurn, where I was able to learn about their products and how they generally worked. How these products were used and how they were distributed could be very useful for this trade. I was very interested in learning more about the backflow preventers, sprinklers, and drains they sell, but more importantly, HOW they're installed!

Even though I do not have the trade experience, I do have experience working as a team where everyone has a different skill level. This I'm sure is positive to be applicable to the trade jobs. I will be first the least-experienced person on the job. It is part of my drive as

Why are you exploring an apprenticeship program?

An apprenticeship provides a high-quality foundation for a stable career. It's the first place to start in a trades career. It prevents me from learning things "wrong" only to unlearn them later. I should have pursued this career straight out of high school but overlooked the professionalism inherent in the building trades. I didn't come to

Tell Us About Any Relevant Hobbies:

I like rebuilding small engines. This is a hobby that started with my own personally broken lawnmower. I inherited a "junk" chainsaw. Then another. Pretty soon I had half a garage full of old, unloved implements. I didn't know anything about them, thinking I would scrap them. Then I got to tearing them down and noting the patterns of wear. I created a list of common faults and procedures on how to fix those common faults. Now I do a lot of rebuilding, some for personal satisfaction, some for profit, but all for fun. This transfers to the trades, because like what I said about plumbing before, fixing small engines are deceptively simple. They also are taken for granted. Many people don't have the patience to fix them, and they just expect them to work - a lot like how plumbing is perceived.

What Interested You in Plumbing?

The pipe trades are a good outlet for my desire to work with my hands and physically make work come to life. I have "driven" a desk for close to a decade and that aspect of the job never materialized in the way it does in the trades. My Grandfather was an electrician and he created a lot of opportunities to bond with me over how to build things. He showed me how to take pride in the work I created with my hands. Without him, I would not have the aptitude or desire to continue pursuing a trade for the benefit of providing for a family.

Plumbing, especially, is one of those trades that have the benefit of not only providing but also enduring. This trade will do nothing but expand like PEX piping and those in it

Tell Us About Any Relevant Hobbies:

My main hobby at the moment is working on cars. I enjoy after work or an off day just to relax and do regular maintenance or upgrade the internals/performance parts. I've always been very hands on and like to know how things work and how to make them even better. I think this translates well because I'll be very motivated to learn while working in a career that's ever advancing and technical.

What Interested You in Plumbing?

My uncle is a plumber and he was telling me about the amazing opportunity it was and suggested that I should give it a try. He went through this exact program many years ago and expressed how it changed his life forever in the best way. Hearing that I got intrigued and began to do my own research, I've always loved doing hands on jobs and my best subject in school was always math and this trade seemed like it was a combination of those two things. Overall I think this is what I've been looking for, in my past and still to this day I try to find jobs that just pay decent but are temporary, with plumbing it doesn't seem like a job it seems like a career with a future.

Tell Us About Any Relevant Hobbies:

In my free time, I enjoy working on cars and doing different types of handiwork, such as drywall repairs and small electrical projects. These activities have taught me problem-solving and troubleshooting skills, since I often need to figure out what's wrong and how to fix it efficiently. They've also helped me develop patience, attention to detail, and confidence with tools and materials. I've learned how important safety and precision are, especially when dealing with electrical work. All of these skills—working carefully, solving problems, and using tools—are directly transferable to the construction trades.

What Interested You in Plumbing?

I've always been drawn to hands-on work where I can see the results of my efforts. The building trades offer a combination of physical skill, problem-solving, and long-term career stability, which really appealed to me. Plumbing, in particular, stood out because it plays such a critical role in public health and infrastructure. I enjoy the challenge of diagnosing and solving issues, and I appreciate that plumbing offers a clear path for learning and growth—whether through apprenticeship, licensure, or eventually running my own business. It's a career where I can build expertise, contribute to my community, and have real opportunities for advancement.

Why are you exploring an apprenticeship program?

I like that an apprenticeship gives me the chance to earn while I learn. I've always enjoyed hands-on work like fixing cars and doing repairs, so this feels like the best way to build real skills on the job and grow into a career in the trades.

As a project manager and expediter I frequently have to plumb fixtures, toilets and as a tile contractor I have installed my own shower Valves and trim kits.

What Interested You in Plumbing?

I have worked in the construction industry for the past 7 years as a project manager. Plumbing has specifically interested me because it presents unique challenges at each job.

Why are you exploring an apprenticeship program?

I have family members in the trades. They tell me even though I haven't been professionally trained that I would be a good fit and it would benefit my family. I have always been a jack of all trades but I'd like to become a something I can be proud of knowing I am a professional.

The first job I ever had was working at McDonalds. I thought it would be easy but I was wrong. It can get very busy very fast and having to be able to work under pressure is a must. Also being able to communicate with your coworkers is a must if anything is going to get done. Plus dealing with customers that are clearly wrong and having to maintain your composure is essential. These skills I feel are very applicable to the pipe trades due to working with other people most of the time and working with customers or clients that aren't in good moods.

My second job is working as a Dietary Aid at a senior assisted living home. Working here

Why are you exploring an apprenticeship program?

An apprenticeship is an attractive option for me because, I feel watching someone with a lot more experience than you is one of the fastest and most efficient ways to learn something. I believe this because if you have a question someone is right there to answer your question. Plus you can also pick up on the little things that make the person your

Tell Us About Any Relevant Hobbies:

I work at a assisted living facility for seniors at the moment. In order to have this job I have to possess very high patience and tolerance towards the seniors. This can be transferrable to the construction trades due to having to talk and communicate with other people that think differently from you. If i'm working with a group of people with different ideas I can tolerate and come to agreements, and not get into a argument. I also make music as a hobby. To make music you constantly have to come up with new ideas. You also have to constantly learn if you want to get better. This is transferable to the construction trades because most of the time you are solving problems on the job and have to come up with new ideas and adapt. you are also constantly learning from these problems and have to remember the solutions.

What Interested You in Plumbing?

I first got interested in the trades when I had my first wood shop in highschool. I liked the hands on work required for the class. I also just like to move around in general I don't want to work an office job and sit in one place all day. I first got interested in plumbing due to the school hosting a job fair and a plumbing company introduced me to the basics and I was very interested.

The trades are also a very stable career path and have very strong job security with a high demand. Due to problem solving and helping others I feel like this line of work can be very fulfilling to me.

I enjoy working with my hands and have always said that my hobby is work, because completing difficult and complex tasks is genuinely satisfying to me. Currently, I'm a Millwright Apprentice with hands on experience in a range of mechanical systems. I've completed approximately 100 hours of pipefitting and steamfitting work, specifically on exhaust and pneumatic systems, which I've really enjoyed and hope to do more of in the future. I've had some experience with lubrication systems, including cutting, bending, and setting up lube tubes. While my exposure in this area has been limited so far, I'm eager to continue developing my skills and taking on more responsibility in these kinds of technical, hands-on tasks.

Tell Us About Any Relevant Jobs : I've worked at ATI Ladish for the past two years, with the last year and a half as a Millwright Apprentice. In this role, I've been responsible for installing, repairing, and maintaining a wide range of industrial equipment. My work has included hands on experience with exhaust systems, lubrication systems, hydraulics, welding, and pneumatics. I've completed approximately 100 hours of pipefitting and steamfitting work primarily on pneumatic and exhaust systems with likely more time accumulated through day to day tasks.

I want to have a career in plumbing because it would offer me a strong foundation for personal and professional growth. Plumbing provides a valuable skill set that is always in demand, which gives me confidence in long-term job security. The opportunity to earn an amazing pay and receive excellent benefits makes plumbing a great choice for myself. One of the most appealing aspects of becoming a plumber is the potential for a better learning environment and a more structured path to becoming a skilled professional.

Why are you exploring an apprenticeship program?

An apprenticeship is attractive to me because it allows me to learn directly from experienced tradespeople. I'm currently in an apprenticeship and really value the hands on learning that comes from being in the field, Learning from people who've spent years mastering their trade is something I deeply respect, and I try to absorb as much as I can

I value the idea of working with experienced individuals who are willing to mentor and train apprentices. Unlike my current employment. plumbing appears to offer a more consistent and supportive journey through the apprenticeship process, and I see that as

What Interested You in Plumbing?

I've always been a good hands on learner/ worker and it really came to show in high school where my favorite class was in the metals shop for welding. After high school I went right into the work force and found myself at a general construction company in chimney service working on jobs including brick masonry, carpentry, and hvac. With that being my favorite job I've worked at thus far, I began asking friends of mine in other trades if they would recommend their trade and I tended to be most interested in those recommending plumbing.

What Interested You in Plumbing?

The reason I am interested in trades is because I have always loved working with my hands. I feel like there is a sense of accomplishment that comes with working with your hands especially in the trades and in construction. Working hard and being able to see not only your work but the work of all trades coming together in the end is an amazing experience. I also took an interest in trades because I want to someday hopefully become a contractor and build houses. I choose plumbing specifically for a couple of major reasons. For one I know that plumbers are in high demand right now, but that isn't the main reason. I ultimately chose to pursue plumbing because I feel that as I looked through the plumbers local 75 website they seemed to care a lot about their members and I really liked that.

Why are you exploring an apprenticeship program?

It is an attractive option to me because after experiencing college I know that I would rather not only learn but also build and apply real world experience at the same time. I feel that it makes for a much more effective way of excelling at your profession. And to make things even better it pays as you learn which makes it even more valuable.

I played basketball on the school team for 3 years and track for 1 year. I feel that I'm fit enough for the labor part of this job and that I just have to be taught how. Without a doubt I can say I'm dedicated to doing this. I've been doing my research on it for quite some time now.

Tell Us About Any Relevant Jobs :

My first job which I'm still working is a position as a cashier at Metro Market and unfortunately I don't see any skills I've learned here lining up with pipe trades

What Interested You in Plumbing?

I knew since sophomore year that I wanted to do trades, I just didn't know which one until I thought about plumbing. I feel capable of this and it's also a comfortable career path for me as a whole.

Why are you exploring an apprenticeship program?

Because I feel like if your fit enough for the labor and willing to do it for years it just a better option than college in terms of how much education you have to go through and the years you have to put in.

I have currently had zero jobs which is one of my many reasons why I am very eager to learn and find any opportunity that is available.

Tell Us About Any Relevant Hobbies:

I work third shift as of right now, but every day after work, I work out at the gym for two hours and love to keep myself busy with my family. Working out at the gym boosts my stamina and strength to ensure that I am able to tackle any task that is given to me as a plumber. I usually spend the rest of the day resting for another third shift. The weekends I spend them with my family and friends, either playing sports at the park or simply going out to dinner and catching up on everyone's week. That also boosts my social skills and makes me a very valuable addition to any team as I am able to get along very well with anyone and communicate greatly if there is ever any disagreement within my colleagues.

What Interested You in Plumbing?

I am currently twenty-one years of age and am employed with Haribo of Pleasant Prairie, but have been wanting to earn an actual career where I can learn and grow in an industry. I have been very interested in the union plumbing committee for some time but was very unsure how to apply. Since I'm getting older, I would love to earn myself a career with more opportunities for me and not be stuck at a warehouse job where I may not have a chance to grow. I really am interested in the plumbing since It seems very interesting and something I don't think I'll ever get bored of. I love working with my hands and learning new things everyday. I strongly believe that the plumbing trade is the best option for me!

Why are you exploring an apprenticeship program?

I have always been interested in a career within the union. I couldn't decide what trade, but once I heard about plumbing, I knew that was the option for me. Since you always have employment and can constantly keep learning every day, I am most excited about growing within the plumbing industry and eventually becoming a licensed plumber.

I have not had jobs that have skills directly applicable to trades, but I have worked since I was 14 and understand that value of showing up on time and working hard.

Tell Us About Any Relevant Hobbies:

I'm currently a journalist so I have great communication skills and am great and understanding new topics quickly. I enjoy working out so I know I am capable of the physical demands of the job. I enjoy house projects. My partner and I recently built a raised garden bed from used crates. I also like to crochet which helps with pattern recognition and dexterity. My favorite thing is to spend time outside whether its long walks with my dog or playing volleyball. I'm used to camping outside in inclement weather and playing outdoor volleyball in snow - which sometimes happens in Wisconsin when the league starts in April and ends in October. I know how to bundle up and be prepared for any whether when working on outside projects.

What Interested You in Plumbing?

After going to college and working nearly a decade in my field I realized that I miss working with my hands. I find doing work with tangential results much more rewarding and think trades would be a great way to achieve that. I also am currently in a union and would love to continue in a work environment where I can be active in a union. I'm open to a few trades, but something about working with water and controlling water flow sounds more interesting to me than electric or HVAC.

Why are you exploring an apprenticeship program?

I have a mortgage, dog and have to provide for myself with healthcare and retirement, so I need a job that can pay, provide healthcare and retirement within a timely manner.

First I was a Apprentice welder for a year at Kapco in Grafton and I learned many skills that are applicable. First I learned how to be safe on the job for example I learned the importance of wearing proper PPE and how to work safely. Next I learned how to use hand tools such as a MiG, and Tig welder, I also learned how to use grinders and pneumatic tools. Lastly at this job I learned how to take pride in my work and do a good job because if you didn't do a good job your parts wouldn't pass inspection and would have to get sent back.

I also worked for mv dads business as a finish carpenter and I learned a lot of similar

Why are you exploring an apprenticeship program?

An apprenticeship is an attractive option to me because it allows for hands on, practical learning. Instead of just focusing on all classroom based learning, I would be able to develop real world skills in a working environment, which I believe is one of the most effective ways to learn. This approach not only helps me build confidence but also

Then outside of school I work on cars and trucks with friends, I have done everything from oil changes to doing transmissions and rebuilding engines.

Next I do quite a bit of wood working on my own time. I have built full custom wooden flat beds for trucks and have built small structures. When IU was in school I Was in a construction class and we learned how to build a shed from scratch, everything from the framing to shingles and siding.

What Interested You in Plumbing?

I have always been interested in working with my hands and I feel I have gained skills with working with power tools and regular hand tools. Some ways I gained my skills were because some of the jobs I have had. First I was an apprentice welder for a year and learned the ins and outs of making sure I made good welds and I learned how to be a perfectionist and take pride in my work.

I also did landscaping for the summer and this job taught me how to work with hand tools and overall gave me a good work ethic because of the rough working conditions. After doing Manuel labor jobs and hobbies like working on cars I learned that working in the trades is something I want to pursue. Next the reason I want to pursue a career in

What Interested You in Plumbing?

I never really liked sitting around in a seat I like to get my hands dirty and be more on hands because the time goes on by faster in my opinion . The reason I am mainly interested in plumbing is because my uncle is a plumber and I have been for like 3 years been hovering and working with him and something about it just makes it seem relaxing and calm .

Why are you exploring an apprenticeship program?

It helps me learn a trade which I could possibly in the future build my own company . The pension and the pay also helps with any stress because being an adult is not easy a lot of bills makes life stressful but with good pay it can help with the stress

I have been a driver for a year now and I believe that in that field you have to be self motivated and determined to get the job done because there is not going to a supervisor standing over you shoulder and I believe that takes a certain level of focus and determination to complete the job that is asked very time and that's a trait that I have learned and now possess that may relate.

What Interested You in Plumbing?

OF course Plumbing is a very stable and in demand job. It would allow me to provide for my family while also having a great trade under my belt. What I also know I would enjoy about plumbing is the immediate results of my work. I have done an apprenticeship in brick masonry and I loved seeing the end results of my work. Plumbing is very rewarding and with all the different type of jobs there could be I'm sure there will never be a dull moment.

Why are you exploring an apprenticeship program?

This apprenticeship is so attractive because it gives me a second chance to be better in something with my hands. This gives me a chance to provide for my family doing something thing that will always be around so that I can support them doing so. I currently work at a sign shop (called Wisconsin signs), where I have to work with metal, different cutting devices, and just standard tools like power drills. Outside of that, I have a lot of experience working with customers or people in general, having worked in a restaurant and an elderly home.

What Interested You in Plumbing?

I don't mind working alone or in smaller groups, nor do I mind getting my hands dirty. Plus out of all the trades plumbing is the most interesting to me. Nonetheless, plumbing seems like a good skill to have, and it will always be needed.

Why are you exploring an apprenticeship program?

I think it's a good way to get both a good education and on the job experience. Especially for more hands on learners like myself, something like an apprenticeship is very helpful to doing well at a level where I can experience plumbing first hand. And learn from other already experienced/established plumbers along the way.

I worked for Racine County Parks Department during the summers. I have become skilled at using tools and equipment that are used in the trades. I learned to manage projects, timelines, work independently and in a group while completely physically demanding jobs.

I played team sports from 1st grade through high school. Here I learned the value of collaboration, communication, and working towards a common goal. In construction, teamwork is essential, as jobs are often completed by groups of workers who need to communicate effectively and rely on each other.

What Interested You in Plumbing?

I am writing to express my strong interest in pursuing a career as a plumber. As a high school student, I have developed a keen interest in hands-on work, problem-solving, and making a tangible impact through the skills I learn. I believe that becoming a plumber aligns perfectly with my goals and interests, and I am eager to pursue this career path after graduation.

I am committed to learning the necessary skills and am eager to begin an apprenticeship or trade program to gain hands-on experience. I am confident that with dedication and the right training, I can make a valuable contribution to the plumbing profession.

Why are you exploring an apprenticeship program?

I learn best in a hands-on environment where I can gain knowledge through real-world experiences and working alongside experienced professionals. I think I will excel in an environment that varies from day to day offering a mix of tasks. I like to troubleshoot, problem-solve and work in different environments which help make

Why are you exploring an apprenticeship program?

Learning while earning is by far the best opportunity an eager man can have. Apprenticeship programs I believe draw more focus and dedication from the individual training.

I'm a hard worker but tradesmen are skilled and smart workers. At this point in my life I've decided this is the journey I'm going to take to further mold who I am.

One of the things I enjoy doing in my free time is wood working I love building things that can be useful in my family's home rather than purchasing things from a store. I have always preferred to try to fix or build things on my own before hiring someone else to do so. I also love to spend time outside either camping, fishing or hiking and solving random problems is always something you need to do sometimes with limited time and resources so fast thinking is key. I enjoy yard work and landscaping as well which having a plan before you start and way to execute that plan is very important.

I have worked as both a finish and rough carpenter which often times lead me to working with or around the plumbers on the job site. I think working as a carpenter and as a laborer gave me valuable problem solving skills and also taught me how to use hand and power tools more efficiently. Even doing landscaping work has showed me a little bit about underground utilities, grading and drainage which I think are also relevant to plumbing.

Why are you exploring an apprenticeship program?
I love the idea of working with someone or a group of people who are highly skilled in a trade and can pass that valuable knowledge down to myself. I have always enjoyed projects that involve hands on work and working with both hand and power tools. Another main thing that has attracted me to the building trades is because I love problem solving and being able to see tangible results when that said project is complete. I get great satisfaction from completing tasks while doing hands on work. I also don't think many people stop to think about the importance of the building trades specifically plumbing. One of the other reasons why I love this type of work is to help out someone in need who doesn't have the knowledge to complete that task on there own. I am the type of person who loves to learn new things especially from someone who has much more knowledge in a subject than I do myself. I have plenty of friends who work as union plumbers who have all expressed to me how much they love what they do,

Landscaping may not apply to plumbing, but the things I learned along the way may help me, such as confidence and pride in my work. Honesty and morals when working for someone, and always doing my best to provide the best possible outcome.

What Interested You in Plumbing?

I have wanted to join the trades but was never sure which one. After researching plumbing, among other trades, I decided it would be the best fit for me. I also discussed careers with a few journeymen plumbers at a school-hosted career day, who encouraged me to pursue plumbing. I am very good at hands-on and practical work, which excites me to contribute to society.

Why are you exploring an apprenticeship program?

I value the ability to build my skills up as I learn, giving me opportunities to apply my education day-to-day and practice these skills. Additionally, I want to work once I get out of high school and not have to worry about going into unnecessary debt.

I also understand that plumbing is an essential trade for water, heating, and sanitation, making demand for plumbers high. Along with this, specialized master plumbers have the opportunity for six-figure salaries and self-employment, which I wish to reach one day.

I have worked in manufacturing/assembly, the skills that I have acquired working there which are attention to detail, understanding company culture, multitasking, quick learner and also always asking questions about the job are applicable to the pipe trades.

Tell Us About Any Relevant Hobbies:

Some hobbies I have are cooking, going to the gym, listening to crime documentaries and reading self discovery books. Cooking helps because not only do I cook but I cook nutritional meals, meals that support my overall health. The gym definitely helps me stay in shape and active keeping my heart pumping. I'm not sure how crime documentaries can help but I do enjoy listening, understanding and comprehending just about anything. I'm a very curious person and open to learning. Reading self discovery books helps me understand myself and where I stand in the world, and what have to offer.

What Interested You in Plumbing?

What interested me in trades in general and specifically, a career in plumbing was the union culture, the ability to continuously learn about plumbing throughout my career, and most importantly the financial stability that building trades offers.

Why are you exploring an apprenticeship program?

Apprenticeship is an attractive option to me because it not only offers hands on training for the trade your interested in but you also are getting paid to learn.

What Interested You in Plumbing?

I have always been open to being able to do a number of different things. Plumbing is a good skill to have . I would love to learn and have this skill because it would highlight my diversity and ability to work hard under any circumstance. Trades are essential to me because it is a skill that you will have forever and could pass down to many generations of family.

Why are you exploring an apprenticeship program?

Apprenticeship is an attractive option for me because I have the ability to learn and earn at the same time. Learning a really valuable skill while still being able to take care of my self is something that I feel is just essential for the world that we live in. It is something that I would recommend to everyone

What Interested You in Plumbing?

I grew up around tradesmen my whole life, my friends and family are involved in trades one way or another. I am choosing a career change due to circumstances outside my control. I have never had an aptitude for electrician or hvac work, but I have had some very minor plumbing jobs that I seemed to really enjoy. I think with my work ethic and eagerness to learn I can make a great career for myself

Why are you exploring an apprenticeship program?

I am certainly more of a hands on learner in most aspects. I enjoy being able to apply my knowledge or newly taught skills to a practical setting. I enjoy a structured environment.

Yet again, Im not sure if I really have. I don't know entirely what plumbing entails but I have a strong desire to know more.

What Interested You in Plumbing?

The trades have always stuck out to me because I have always had a desire to work with my hands. I love working, and I love putting in the hours for a nice pay check. In particular plumbing has always made sense to me practically speaking with all of the benefits that come with simply knowing how the trade works. On top of that, I have heard others talk about how well plumbing has worked out for them, and upon doing a ride along with them, I realized I think plumbing is for me.

Why are you exploring an apprenticeship program?

I always had a desire to get into the work force straight after high school. I didn't have any interest in going to college but rather to just getting going into the real world.

I work at Home Depot and I ask a lot of the tradesmen about their work before I made a decision so I have a somewhat clue on different plumbing concepts

What Interested You in Plumbing?

I've never liked sitting at a desk, I think it'll be awesome to be actually doing something hands on. learning a new skill is always fun. I wouldn't mind doing hard work it just makes finishing it feel better. I think I ended up choosing plumbing because I don't mind dirty work. But that also depends what kind of plumbing i'm doing. But I think it's a real useful skill to have especially when I become a homeowner. I also think it'll really engage my brain and keep me busy. Especially if I end up doing isometric drawings.

Why are you exploring an apprenticeship program?

Learning a Complicated skill while being paid will be awesome. I've never been too engaged in classes other than math and shop classes like welding. And I don't think a desk job is the best option for me.

In my previous role as a CNC operator, I developed several skills that I believe carry over well to the pipe trades. I became comfortable reading technical drawings, working with precision tools, and maintaining high attention to detail. I also worked in a fast-paced manufacturing environment, which required strong problem-solving, time management, and teamwork. These experiences taught me how to work safely, think critically, and stay focused on quality.

Why are you exploring an apprenticeship program?

An apprenticeship is an attractive option to me because it allows me to learn a skilled trade through real, hands-on experience while earning a wage. I value the opportunity to be taught by experienced professionals and to build a solid foundation from the ground up. Coming from a background in CNC operation, I've seen the importance of on-the-job

Tell Us About Any Relevant Hobbies:

I enjoy 3D printing and spending time in my workshop building various projects. These hobbies have helped me develop strong problem-solving skills, attention to detail, and a comfort with tools and equipment. Whether I'm troubleshooting a print issue or measuring and cutting materials for a build, I'm constantly applying practical thinking and patience, which I believe are essential qualities for success in hands-on trades.

What Interested You in Plumbing?

I'm pursuing a career in plumbing because I'm looking to transition into a hands-on trade that offers long-term stability and growth. My background is in CNC operation, and while my previous path was leading toward CNC programming, I've become increasingly aware of how automation and AI could impact that field in the near future. I want to stay in a career where I can work with my hands, solve real-world problems, and continue learning a valuable and essential skill. Plumbing offers exactly that, and I'm excited to begin this new chapter.

Working on my car has become one of my favorite ways to spend a weekend. Whether it's changing my oil, fixing my brakes, or just washing and waxing I find working with my hands makes me happy. I learned a lot about working on car from a job I had at Chrysler years ago and I've been hooked ever since. And once I became a homeowner those fixing skills translated. I painted, replaced light fixtures, installed sinks and doors but I've always wanted to dive deeper into home repairs. But the fear of messing up because of my lack of knowledge has always held me back, which is what has brought me here.

What Interested You in Plumbing?

I am interested in pursuing a career in plumbing because I enjoy hands-on, problem-solving work that directly improves people's lives. Plumbing is essential to the health, safety, and comfort of every home and building, and I am motivated by the opportunity to provide a valuable service that communities rely on. I find satisfaction in diagnosing issues, working with tools, and applying practical knowledge to fix or install systems that are critical to daily life. A plumbing career offers me the chance to continuously develop my skills, work in a variety of settings, and tackle new challenges every day.

Additionally, I am drawn to plumbing because of the stability and growth it offers as a long-term profession. As a skilled trade, plumbing is always in demand, and I appreciate

Why are you exploring an apprenticeship program?

An apprenticeship is attractive to me because it offers the perfect balance of hands-on experience and structured learning. I am excited by the opportunity to earn while I learn, gaining valuable, real-world skills from seasoned professionals in the field. Instead of spending years in a classroom before applying my knowledge, an apprenticeship allows

I've had multiple jobs that I believe have taught me applicable skills to use in trades. My time working at AutoZone taught me a lot about effective communication and real world problem solving skills. I would always try to help people diagnose issues they would have with their vehicle, which involved taking a complex issue, and explaining it to them in an easy to understand way. I think those skills would be especially useful in the pipe trades especially when working with clients or even working with a team. Currently, I work at A1- Scale doing anything from unboxing and setting up new scales, to driving all over the state for service calls at commercial businesses, to going to a contract job. This job has given me a much better understanding of how the commercial

Why are you exploring an apprenticeship program?

An apprenticeship seems like the perfect fit for me for a number of reasons. The hands on experience you get while also working side by side with qualified professionals plays a big part. Not only that but getting to see real world issues and applying what I've learned in those settings will be very beneficial in my future.

Tell Us About Any Relevant Hobbies:

I have a number of hobbies I feel boost my skills in construction trades. I usually spend my weekends working on my old snowmobiles and my car which has greatly helped me understand the mechanics and how each component works with the next. I feel this will be a big help when understanding how plumbing systems work together and function as a whole. This has also helped me develop my problem solving skills and patience, as troubleshooting and fixing specific issues plays a big role when working on cars and snowmobiles.

In addition to working on vehicles, in the summer I participate in a few different sports which has not only helped me better my communication skills, but also improve my teamwork abilities. Both of which are very important in any construction trade.

What Interested You in Plumbing?

I've always been interested in how things you use everyday actually work. (Ex. Sinks, electrical outlets, air conditioning) On top of that, I've always been a fan of working with my hands, problem solving, and getting to see the differences I make. I specifically chose a career in plumbing because it's a vital role in society, as the demand for plumbing will always be around. Furthermore, there will always be different types of jobs plumbers go out to do such as maintenance, troubleshooting, and even installing. Lastly, the knowledge and potential earnings for this trade are what sealed the deal for me.

 My current job of 2 years I've been doing repairs and maintenance on small engine equipment, trucks and trailers. Weather it be simple fixes using hand or power tools or doing major welding and fabrication to repair damaged trailers and other equipment. Before that job I worked at a small engine shop for 2 years as well doing the same kind of work just on a smaller scale so I have a vast knowledge of reading parts break down diagrams and wiring diagrams.

Why are you exploring an apprenticeship program?
 The fact that a company will offer hands-on, practical training and career development opportunities is amazing. Its also great that they provide a blend of classroom learning and real-world experience, equipping individuals with the skills and knowledge needed to succeed in their chosen field.

Tell Us About Any Relevant Hobbies:

In my free time I enjoy working on anything with an engine or fixing up old trailers. So I am always using basic and advanced hand and power tools weekly. I can proficiently read parts brake down diagrams and wiring diagrams for when I'm rebuilding small engine or vehicle components or trying to trouble shoot an electrical problem.

What Interested You in Plumbing?

Growing up my father was a union plumber and I've always thought about following in his footsteps. I've always enjoyed hands on kind of work and he supported our family through everything with his career as a plumber and I want to do the same for my family. Plumbing is also just a great skill to learn and have knowledge of for future personal use.

 I haven't worked directly in the pipe trades yet, but I've had jobs that built skills I know will transfer well. In the dental field, I had to follow strict safety and sanitation protocols, pay close attention to detail, and stay organized in fast paced environments all of which I know are important on a job site too. I also handled tools, equipment, and followed technical processes step by step, which helped me build good hand-eye coordination and patience.

Outside of that, I've worked in other environments that required teamwork, showing up consistently, and communicating clearly. Whether stocking, lifting, or completing

Why are you exploring an apprenticeship program?
 What makes an apprenticeship attractive to me is the fact that it's hands on and I can earn money while learning a real skill. I'm not interested in sitting in a classroom for years just to end up in debt. I want to work, build something, and know that I'm putting my time into a career that actually pays off.

Tell Us About Any Relevant Hobbies:

I'm someone who picks up new skills quickly and pays close attention to detail. I'm naturally organized and like figuring things out hands on, especially when it involves using tools or building something step by step. I enjoy solving problems and making sure things are done the right way, not rushed or sloppy.

I also like staying active and working with my hands. I don't mind physical labor, and I actually enjoy work that keeps me moving. Whether it's helping out with projects, putting things together, or learning how something works, I've always been the type to stick with a task until I get it right.

What Interested You in Plumbing?

I want to be a plumber because I'm ready to build something real and long term. I've been figuring things out on my own for a while, and I'm not afraid of starting from the bottom if it means I'm learning a trade that gives me stability and room to grow. Plumbing stood out to me because it's not just hard work, it's a skill that can open doors. Whether it's installing systems that people rely on every day or fixing problems others can't, I want to be the person who knows how to do it right.

I'm not doing this just for a job, I'm doing it to invest in myself. I want to be hands on, learning every step, and earning my way into a real career that makes sense for me long term. I take pride in doing things the right way, and I'm ready to show up, work hard, and

A landscaping and maintenance job I had in Sussex had me working with basic shop tools such as drills and saws. I have little experience outside of that other than basic knowledge of tools.

Tell Us About Any Relevant Hobbies:

I enjoy building things every once in a while. It can be anything, legos, furniture, anything with a clear set of instructions. Following the instructions to the letter until the full thing comes together is an amazing feeling and I believe I would see a fair share of the same thing in the trades.

I also enjoy physical activities like hiking, swimming, and running. These hobbies may prove helpful in my work in the trades due to them both being physical and hands-on.

What Interested You in Plumbing?

Despite my lack of proper experience I am no stranger to hard work, in fact I actually prefer it since I'm happiest when I'm doing hands-on activities. I know this because I tried to sit through classes and do school work in college and I realized that it just wasn't for me, which is why I am now pursuing a career in the trades.

Plumbing in particular piqued my interest because of just how important it is on a day to day basis. Everyone I've ever known has needed to call a plumber for some reason or another for problems they could never solve on their own, I want to be one of the people with the solutions to those problems. I enjoy hands on labor and problem solving which naturally led me to choose plumbing as my future trade.

Why are you exploring an apprenticeship program?

An apprenticeship will give me the opportunity to start building a career early in my life that will hopefully grow further in the future. I see it as an investment of sorts, considering that a start of at a relatively low position and work my way up over time.

I was a laborer for a company called superior restorations there I learned how to work hard and work long shifts. The average shift was 10 to 12 hours. most of the work I was moving garbage bags filled with water, damaged material to the dumpster and filling garbage bags with water damage material.

What Interested You in Plumbing?

I'm interested in working in the trades because my family has always predominantly worked in the trades, and I've always wanted to work with my hands. Working at a desk job—or the equivalent—has never piqued my interest. More specifically, I want to work in plumbing because of the high demand and good job security. We need plumbers now more than ever, so I want to help fill that demand.

Why are you exploring an apprenticeship program?

The reason I want to pursue an apprenticeship is because I want to learn while I earn. I feel like an apprenticeship would open the most doors for me, the soonest and the cheapest and would be the most logical pathway for me to pursue.
